

SHE'S LIVED 30 YEARS
WITH THE LOVE OF HER LIFE.
WHO ARE WE TO SAY SHE CAN'T VISIT HER IN THE HOSPITAL?

As Americans, we understand and share common values. Simple values like compassion, caring, sympathy, love, and fairness.

So when we see friends and neighbors who suffer because they don't enjoy the same freedoms and opportunities we do, like being with those closest to them during times of heartache or loss or tragedy, something tells us... this is just plain wrong.

If you agree that it's time that everyone in our state enjoyed the same rights, you wouldn't be alone:

90% of Kentuckians agree with the position that gay and transgender people should be able to visit their partner in hospital.***

Kentucky. It's a state of fairness.
